Course/Module description:

The relationship between Jews and Romans reached an explosion in the three revolts of the 1st-2nd centuries.

The seminar discusses each of the revolts individually, and their overall historical significance regarding the shaping and formation of Jewish identity, of the relationship between Jews and gentiles, and with Roman rule, and of our ability to understand history according to the ancient sources available to us.

Course/Module aims:

Knowing the primary sources about Roman Jewish relations, the revolts and their consequences, and knowing the limitations of knowledge γ

Understanding the processes and events of the various revolts.

A critic analysis of Jewish history also through the foreign, Roman point of view.

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

Analyze primary historical sources dealing with the Jewish revolts.

To find primary and secondary sources concerning the Jewish uprisings.
