

The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Syllabus

War in the World: Military History - 27061

Last update 26-07-2020

HU Credits: 2

Degree/Cycle: 1st degree (Bachelor)

Responsible Department: School of History - Honors Program

Academic year: 0

Semester: 1st Semester

Teaching Languages: Hebrew

Campus: Mt. Scopus

Course/Module Coordinator: Dr. Danny Orbach

Coordinator Email: dannyorbach@gmail.com

Coordinator Office Hours: Mondays, 16:00-17:00, Room 6123

Teaching Staff:

Dr. Danny Orbach

Course/Module description:

A broad survey of military history and theory from the French Revolution to ISIS in Iraq and Syria. The course will cover major campaigns and the development of military theory, and will introduce classical and modern military thinkers. Throughout the semester, the students will encounter Prussian officers, revolutionary warriors and modern soldiers from all over the world.

Among the subjects covered: tactics, strategy and operations, science and technology in warfare, military politics and grand strategy, army-government relations, terror, guerrilla and mosaic wars, counterinsurgency, intelligence, espionage and military coups.

Course/Module aims:

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

Better understanding of military history in a broad sweep, and in-depth exploration of selected questions and debates.

Attendance requirements(%):

80%. Attendance is required. Absence from more than three meetings without a justified and documented reason (health, family or military service) will disqualify the student from submitting the final paper.

Teaching arrangement and method of instruction:

Course/Module Content:

Selected readings (as specified in the syllabus)

Required Reading:

For a detailed reading list, see the Hebrew syllabus above. Some articles have to be read on a weekly basis. Others are optional. The students should read as much as possible from the optional list, and have to read the articles relevant to the questions they choose to answer in their final paper.

Additional Reading Material:

Course/Module evaluation:

End of year written/oral examination 0 %

Presentation 0 %

Participation in Tutorials 0 %

Project work 80 %

Assignments 0 %

Reports 0 %

Research project 0 %

Quizzes 20 %

Other 0 %

Additional information: