

The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Syllabus

German Social History in the 20th Century - 54674

Last update 04-01-2019

HU Credits: 2

Degree/Cycle: 2nd degree (Master)

Responsible Department: Cont. German Studies:politics, Soc.&Cult

Academic year: 0

Semester: 2nd Semester

Teaching Languages: English

Campus: Mt. Scopus

Course/Module Coordinator: Dr. Tobias Ebbrecht-Hartmann

Coordinator Email: tobias.ebbrecht-hartmann@mail.huji.ac.il

Coordinator Office Hours: Wednesday 14:00-15:00

Teaching Staff:

Dr. Tobias Ebbrecht Hartmann

Course/Module description:

The course "German Social History" provides an introduction into the society and culture of Germany in the 20th century. The focus is on post-war German history that is reviewed from a comparative perspective as asymmetrical development between East and West Germany. Methodologically and thematically the course is adopting the concepts of 'modernity' and 'crisis'. Topics that should be discussed are, among other things, political and social protest movements, dealing with the past and the European and international framework of the German development. The course gives an overview of the history of the Weimar Republic until unification in the 1990s and will deal intensively with the two post-war societies in East and West. In addition to political and social issues also cultural phenomena and particularly the cinematic reflection of the socio-historical development will be examined.

Course/Module aims:

The course gives an insight into different aspects of German social history. Furthermore it provides methodological approaches in order to perceive the post-war development in Germany both in comparative perspective (comparative, asymmetric historiography) as well as with regard to various phenomena (society, culture, politics). The course intends to present a complex and wide-ranging picture of Germany. The students will thus be offered a basis for subsequent detailed studies in various subject areas. At the same time they will become familiar with different historiographical concepts of social and cultural history.

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

- orient themselves within the course of German 20th century history,
- communicate their knowledge about German society and culture,
- apply methodological and theoretical concepts (asymmetrical history, crisis as concept of history, transnational historiography) to particular research topics,
- understand the specific social and political composition of the contemporary German society on the basis of its history and development
- to get a reflective view on Germany's politics and culture of memory and on the impact of the national-Socialist past.

Attendance requirements(%):

80%

Teaching arrangement and method of instruction: The teaching is organized as a thematically arranged chronological overview of the German social history of the 20th century. Main sessions are concerned with the conceptual and methodological question of how this history can be explored and narrated. All sessions are based on corresponding texts, which must be read for each session. The lessons are based on both the input of the lecturer and the joint discussion of texts as well as on group work and students' presentations during class.

Course/Module Content:

The general theoretical framework of the course will be the concept of social history as 'crisis history'.

13/03/2019 Introduction: German Social History – Society, History & Crisis

20/03/2019 Crisis of Modernity – The Ambivalences of Weimar

27/03/2019 Reactionary Modernism – the political Culture of the Third Reich

03/04/2019 Total Integration – The Principle of German Volksgemeinschaft

10/04/2019 A Society in Ruins – “Zero Hour” and the Question of Guilt

01/05/2019 Restart, Continuity and Crisis – Developing Society, Culture and Identity in East and West Germany

15/05/2019 Between Stability and Conflict – Social Protests, Gender and Youth Movements

22/05/2019 Conflicting Past(s) - The two Germanys and the Holocaust

29/05/2019 1968 - From Protest to Terror

05/06/2019 German 'Alltag': Youth, Culture and Everyday Life in the two Germanys

12/06/2019 New Germans: Foreign Workers, Migration, Multiculturalism

19/06/2019 The Road to Unification: A German Revolution?

26/06/2019 From Hoyerswerda to Berlin: German Europe, European Islam, and the Remnants of Nationalist Authoritarianism

Required Reading:

• Reinhart Koselleck, Some Questions Regarding the Conceptual History of “Crisis”. In: The practice of conceptual history. Timing history, spacing concepts. Stanford:

Stanford University Press 2002, pp. 236-247.

- Axel Schildt and Arnold Sywottek, "Reconstruction" and "Modernization": West German Social History during the 1950s. In: Robert G. Moeller (ed), West Germany under Construction. Politics, Society and Culture in the Adenauer Era, Ann Arbor 1997, pp. 413-443.
 - Jürgen Kocka, Toward a Social History of the German Democratic Republic. In: Civil Society and Dictatorship in Modern Germany, Hanover, NH 2010, pp. 33-66.
 - Hans-Jürgen Schröder. "From division to Unity: The History of the Federal Republic of Germany." The New Germany: History, Economy, Policies. Ed. Reimund Seidelmann. Baden-Baden: Nomos, 2011. 13-64.
 - Lindenberger, Thomas. "Everyday History: New Approaches to the History of the Post-War Germanys." The Divided Past: Rewriting Post-War German History. Ed. Christoph Klessmann. Oxford: Berg, 2001. 43-67.
- A full reading list will be provided at the beginning of the seminar.

Additional Reading Material:

Course/Module evaluation:

End of year written/oral examination 0 %

Presentation 25 %

Participation in Tutorials 0 %

Project work 0 %

Assignments 0 %

Reports 15 %

Research project 60 %

Quizzes 0 %

Other 0 %

Additional information: