Course/Module description:

The European Union is a unique "beast". It is much more than international organization but less than a state.

The course will examine the historical process of its establishment and development since WWII until the current crises it deals with today.

It will explain how the EU works: We'll learn of its main institutions, how they make decision internally and jointly.

We'll review the policy fields the EU deals with: the single market, the euro, the free movement "Schengen" zone and its common foreign and security policy.

As time will allow, we'll review the relevance of different integration theories to understand, explain and predict the EU integration process.

Course/Module aims:

To develop wide knowledge and deep understanding and analysis capacity about the European integration process from historical, political-institutional (bureaucratic), policy perspectives.

To "speak EUropean" – to know and use the EU academic and professional jargon and terminology.

To introduce the students to major theoretical approaches analyzing the EU.

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

- 1. To define and use the basic terminology of European integration.*
- 2. To describe, explain, compare and analyze the ups and downs in the integration process from historical, institutional, economic and political perspectives.*
- 3. To understand what is the EU, in which policy fields does it operates (and which ones it doesn't) and how it operates in them.*
- 4. To generalize and exemplify processes and phenomena in the integration process.*
