perceptions, religious beliefs, historical events and philosophical theories. In turn, the legal system itself often plays an important role in a country's history, society and culture. This course will introduce the students to the basic structure of German legal system, and will focus on the historical, cultural, philosophical and social aspects of this system.

Course/Module aims:

The goal of this course is to give the students a broad notion of German legal system: its structure and functioning, its main characteristics in terms of philosophy and ideology, as well as its historical role.

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

- be familiar with the role that various institutions of German legal system (the courts, the constitution, the president, etc.) played throughout history.
- be familiar with the main characteristics of German legal system, such as its tendency towards social welfare legislation, its strong emphasis on personal rights and on questions of honor and dignity, its special treatment of free speech issues.
- be able to give examples from various fields of law to describe the different characteristic traits of German legal system.
