

Syllabus

Capitalism and Morality: Adam Smiths Moral and Political Philosophy - 56989

Last update 28-09-2023

HU Credits: 4

Responsible Department: Political Science

Academic year: 0

Semester: Yearly

Teaching Languages: Hebrew

Campus: Mt. Scopus

Course/Module Coordinator: Dr. Yiftah Elazar

Coordinator Email: yiftah.elazar@mail.huji.ac.il

Coordinator Office Hours:

Teaching Staff:

Dr. Yiftah Elazar

Course/Module description:

---

The eighteenth-century Scottish philosopher Adam Smith is often perceived as one of the founders of modern economics and fathers of capitalism, but in recent decades, groundbreaking studies have illuminated additional aspects of his work, particularly his moral and political philosophy.

Recent research on Smith presents in a more complex light his conception of a happy modern society, and some researchers have highlighted his criticism of the limitations and dangers of the free market. Whether or not we accept such a reading, it is clear now that Smith's economic theory was part of an ambitious intellectual project, which sought to address fundamental questions on moral psychology, ethics, justice, progress, liberty, personal and social happiness, political authority, and more. And whether or not we agree with Smith's ideas, he deserves to be studied as a major Enlightenment writer whose ideas continue to exert influence in the 21st century.

This seminar offers an in-depth look at Smith's philosophy, with an emphasis on morals and politics. This is a challenging seminar, in which we'll delve into Smith's works and read them closely. We'll also discuss some of the writers with whom Smith engaged, such as Bernard Mandeville and Jean-Jacques Rousseau, and some of the writers who engaged with his work, such as Karl Marx. Finally, we'll read current research on Smith and see how his complex and elusive thought inspires strikingly different interpretations and worldviews.

Course/Module aims:

To gain insight into the work of one of the most influential thinkers in modernity

To discuss fundamental questions of modern moral and political philosophy

To expose students to recent studies and debates in political thought

To learn how to conduct research in the history of political thought

Learning outcomes - On successful completion of this module, students should be able to:

To understand some of the intellectual foundations of capitalism and liberalism

To critically read and analyze primary and secondary texts in the history of political thought

To conduct research in the history of political thought

Attendance requirements(%):

85

---

Teaching arrangement and method of instruction: Required reading and preparation for each session, discussion in meeting, student presentations in class

Course/Module Content:

Partial list of topics to be discussed - subject to changes:

Smith's intellectual project, then and now

Smith and Rousseau

The foundations of Smith's moral philosophy

Sympathy and moral imagination

The impartial spectator

The pursuit of wealth

Justice and injustice

The beauty of utility and the force of custom

The character of virtue

Patriotism, good citizenship, and revolution

The development of society and government

Smith's concept of liberty

Justice in the family: women and slaves

The paradox of inequality and wealth

The Adam Smith Problem

Value, Labor, and Power

Wages, poverty, and equality

Capital and productive labor

The unnatural growth of wealth

The critique of mercantilism and the invisible hand

Physiocracy and the system of natural liberty

The duties of the sovereign: military defense and the administration of justice

Education, stupidity, and alienation

Required Reading:

Select sources:

Adam Smith, The Theory of Moral Sentiments (1759)

Adam Smith, An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations (1776)

Adam Smith, Lectures on Jurisprudence [1762-1764]

Bernard Mandeville, The Fable of the Bees (1714, 1729)

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, Discourse on the Origin and Foundations of Inequality Among Men (1755)

---

Additional Reading Material:

See the detailed syllabus, to be published in the beginning of the year

Grading Scheme:

Presentation / Poster Presentation / Lecture/ Seminar / Pro-seminar / Research proposal 80 %

Submission assignments during the semester: Exercises / Essays / Audits / Reports / Forum / Simulation / others 20 %

Additional information:

Written assignments - subject to changes:

For students taking the class as a research seminar -

Research proposal - first draft

Research proposal - second draft

Research paper

For students taking the class as a regular class -

Research proposal

Proseminar paper