Course/Module description:

The course deals with one of the most fascinating historical topics, which attracted philosophers, historians and scientists from the beginning of the modern era till today: What is the secret of the rise and fall of civilizations in the history of mankind? The purpose of the course is to present to the students the main theories that emerge from existing research. He will discuss questions such as: Why did most of the major civilizations develop on the continent of Asia and not in America, Africa or Australia? How did it happen that European civilization was the one that exported itself to the world? Is the history of the rise and fall of civilizations a circular history or has it a clear direction? What roles did religions and religious institutions play in civilizations? How did technological developments affect the fate of civilizations?
